

HUNGARY ALL UPSET AS TO WHO WILL EVENTUALLY TAKE THRONE

FRENCH COLONIES TO BE DEVELOPED

By Associated Press.
BUDAPEST, Dec. 1.—The question who will eventually occupy the throne of Hungary has been a constant source of unrest and trouble, threatening a sudden upheaval of the recently attained peace and order.

The pro-Hapsburgs declare that the former Emperor Charles is the real king of Hungary and that no one else can legally aspire to the throne until he abdicates. The Independent Magyars, including large masses of the rural population, declare they will never surrender their recently-won independence.

In addition there is a third group of politicians which is willing to offer the throne to any king who promises the restoration of Hungary's lost provinces. To achieve this, they would even consent to do homage to the King of the Serbs or the Romanians.

Propaganda Circulated.

Much propaganda is being circulated in favor of the former Emperor Charles or his eldest son, Prince Otto, and grave fears are expressed that this overzealous partisans of the Hapsburg dynasty may eventually succeed in compelling the country to accept a royalist coup as an accomplished fact.

There is every indication that the followers of Charles are successful in their efforts to convince the country that the restoration of the Hapsburgs would improve Hungary's lamentable situation.

In view of the delicate balance maintained between the various factions, the following statements are important:

Admiral Horthy, the regent, recently declared, "All parties must rest assured that I shall not abuse my powers for the satisfaction of my personal ambition. On the other hand," he added, "no party will be suffered to play pitch and toss with the Crown of Saint Stephen. There must be no plots and conspiracies and everybody is to realize that, for the time being, it is in the interest of the country to put that delicate matter under prohibition."

Renewing Union Plans, Alleged.

The leader of the independent farmer party, Stephen J. Kovacs, who represents the traditional Magyar nobility against Austria and the Hapsburgs, has accused the pro-Champions of planning some surprise action and also aiming to renew the union with Austria.

"The Hapsburgs will never give up their former countries," said Kovacs. "I am reliably informed that former Emperor Charles insists on first entering Vienna and thence marching in triumph to Budapest. But the Magyars will never again acquiesce in losing their deary-old independence."

Kovacs expresses the opinion of large masses of the rural population.

Prince Louis Windischgraetz, a personal friend of the Emperor, contested successfully for a seat in the National Assembly of Hungary and might contribute materially in helping to victory the case of his friend and former sovereign. He told The Associated Press correspondent:

"There can be no doubt about the claims of Charles. He is the crown-prince of Hungary and until he resigns or arrives at some agreement with the nation, any attempt to dethrone him is an overt act of rebellion."

Nation Is Dependent.

"Hungary," the Prince continued, "is now dependent on the help of one of the big powers, and will probably find her friend and supporter in France. According to my information, France is not strongly opposed to the return of the Hapsburgs; the more so, because it is an essential condition of maintaining permanent order in eastern Europe. Besides, the restoration of the dynasty is not explicitly vetoed by the Treaty of Neuilly."

"Charles, as a man, is the ideal ruler. He is entirely democratic and a reformer, and although the calumnies of his enemies spared neither his person nor his family, I am convinced that under more favorable circumstances he would have been the most popular and the most beloved King in the whole world."

"The talk of the claims of the Wittelsbach dynasty is mere nonsense. Even the Hapsburg dynasty is blamed for not being sufficiently Magyar. Nobody can possibly think of electing a foreign king and dynasty."

"One thing is certain," concluded the Prince, "we shall never indulge in plots, and if Charles is ever to return to Hungary, he will come back openly and not in cowardly secrecy."

CHILDREN ABLE TO TALK WITH DEPARTED SPIRITS, SAYS WOMAN LECTURER.

By International News Service.
COLD SPRINGS, Ohio, Dec. 1.—Many children are born who are able to converse with the departed spirits and as the need grows, there will be more.

This assertion was made by Claude L. Watson, national lecturer of the Theosophical Society, in a lecture here.

"The time will come when most of the physical being will be able to communicate with the emotional beings," he continued.

"In our ignorance we have placed about the grave a terror and sorrow that works hardships upon ourselves and those who have passed beyond. When we sorrow over a friend or relative, who has passed beyond, the influence of the mind affects them and tends to pull them back. We should feel that they are not forever lost. We shall find them in the next realm."

"There is no hell or heaven as generally believed. Most of us are not good enough for heaven and not bad enough for hell."

"Hell is a tormented state of mind and is prepared by ourselves. The highest state of heaven is reached by the consciousness which leaves the emotional being after its work has been accomplished."

"Thus there is a second so-called death, which is not as much feared as the first."

Convict Escapes and Makes Haul.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 1.—Robert Henderson, Negro lifer, escaped out of state prison the other night, stole $1,500 worth of jewelry out of a house three blocks away, and was back in prison with his haul in 25 minutes. He made his mistake in giving the loot to a fellow-convict to take care of.

Out of Town People Have Right to Mail Until Eight O'Clock

Will some candidates living outside Amarillo get away in the 11:04 evening, bearing the Saturday night, December 29th? The candidates out of town whose names are entered in the nomination campaign being conducted by The Daily Panhandle seem to be showing considerable strength this week.

A glint at the vote totals today shows that several of the workers outside Amarillo are beginning to get the fever and the spirit of the race. Surely they have as much probability of winning the $1,000.00 offered in cash or one of the other fine awards as any other person in the list who has entered or may enter the contest.

Naturally the best thing to do in a contest is to get just every possible subscription while the greatest vote count is being given for the work which is done. This week and up until eight o'clock Saturday night, December 4th, each and every amount of $1.00 in subscriptions will give a candidate an extra 75,000 ballot.

The 75,000 extra ballots are what all candidates are working for this week and they should leave no stone unturned in their efforts to secure subscriptions to The Daily Panhandle this week. It is not to be supposed that candidates do their utmost between now and Saturday night and then do nothing the rest of the contest. They will not get very far with this method.

All out-of-town candidates have the right to mail their subscriptions on Saturday night at any time up to eight o'clock and full credit will be given on the 75,000-vote ballots no matter if their letter does not reach this office until Monday or Tuesday. This gives them some working time for Amarillo candidates.

"Madagascar possesses more than 1,000,000 cattle. Seven factories have been built and two more are under construction to conserve the meat supply. Madagascar now exports from 15,000 to 20,000 tons of meat to France annually, but this amount can be easily tripled."

French Western Africa has just suffered from cattle disease, and it will be several years before the colony's a source of meat supply for export.

The Ivory Coast and Kamerun produce excellent chocolate, and when their exploitation is intensified we will no longer need to buy from the Dutch.

The Antilles, Guadeloupe and Martinique furnish 70,000 tons of sugar annually, but this amount can be doubled."

TRANSPORTATION ANGLES WILL BE DISCUSSED SOON

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Discussion of transportation problems affecting the country will have a central feature in the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in this city December 7-10. Transportation experts, headed by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, will address the 2,500 members of the society who are expected to attend.

A statement issued by the society says that transportation is considered by the organization as the most pressing problem before the country. "The industry of the country is being seriously handicapped," said the statement. "From present indications, it will take several years for facilities to catch up with increased traffic and the normal development of the next few years."

In addition to purely railroad questions, the society members will consider waterway development and the use of motor vehicles for moving freight. A special report is expected on the St. Lawrence waterways project to make possible ocean traffic through to the Great Lakes.
